

BIOGRAPHICAL MEMOIRS OF FELLOWS OF THE ROYAL SOCIETY

For some years now the Royal Society has arranged that after the death of a Fellow or Foreign Member a careful appreciation by a colleague be prepared so that an account of the deceased's life and work is placed on permanent record. Every memoir in the annual volume of Biographical Memoirs contains a portrait, a bibliography of his writings, an account of the subject's life and provides an assessment of his contributions to new knowledge.

These memoirs constitute an authoritative record of some of the most important developments in science and of the men responsible for them, and so form a valuable source of information in any library including scientific books in its collection.
